Lalandia Aquadome in Billund, Denmark is Scandinavia's largest waterpark at 10,000 sq meters. The entire park is under a dome so it can be used year round. It is next door to the Legoland Park and jointly have formed Legoland Billund Resort - one of the largest tourist attractions in Europe.

11 Neptune-Benson Defender filters were installed on the pools in the Aquadome.

Defender filters in the Aquadome contributed to Lalandia becoming one of the most environmentally-responsible holiday centers in Denmark. A position that has earned the resort the international tourism environmental brand, "The Green Key".

"The Defender system is particularly environmentally-friendly, as energy and water consumption have been reduced significantly."
